

Summer activities

These activities are completely optional but we wanted to give you some ideas of things you could do should you wish to.

Use a map to plan a new family walk. Can you complete the walk without getting lost? Can you write instruction for someone else to try and complete the walk using the 8 points of a compass in your directions? 	After a day out write a review of the place you visited. Consider its facilities, fun factor, variety of things to do, what ages its appropriate for and value for money. 	Random Act of Kindness. This can simply be hiding a note on a tree with an uplifting message or as fun as hiding some chocolate bars with a note to its finder. Anything to brighten a stranger's day. 	The Olympics should have taken place this summer but sadly can't happen. Looking into the history of the Olympics/Paralympics or one of its sports. Maybe stage your own Olympic event in your garden.
Research the different countries who would have taken part in the Olympics this summer and learn some fun facts about their country. Maybe try cooking one of their tradition dishes or learn a little bit of their language. 	Every countries flag has a story behind it. Look into some of the flags of countries that interest you or who would have been at the Olympics and learn about their flag 	Bake a cake/cookies/cupcakes of your choice. Carefully weight out the ingredients and make sure you ask an adult for help with the oven. 	How many books can you read throughout the holiday? Challenge yourself, we would love to hear how many you complete and what you have read.
Can you walk/cycle/jog/run 10 miles over the holidays? This doesn't have to be completed in one session. 	Go for a walk. How many different flowers or plants can you spot? 	Research and create your own Science experiment. (Please be very careful and make sure an adult is aware of what you are doing). 	Draw a picture of your dream house.
